GIFT KEPT IN SEN. BAKER'S OFFICE

December 21, 1987

Dear Michael:

Thanks for sending along your piece from the Los Angeles Times. It is not only correct (as usual), but sets exactly the right tone. Restoring some level of confidence here and abroad is absolutely essential so that we don't talk ourselves into some kind of downturn. That's why the budget agreement, while far from perfect and less than I had hoped for, is better than no agreement at all. I guess I'd forgotten how hard it is to get Congress to agree to cut spending.

My regards and, if I don't talk to you before then, best wishes for the holidays.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Mr. Gilsey:

Thanks for your message recommending Paul Volcker for a more official and visible role in advising us on international economic developments. I share your high regard for Paul, have consulted with him on many occasions in the past, and will do so in the future. I will certainly keep your suggestion in mind as we implement our policies and continue our efforts to restore confidence in the financial markets.

Best wishes.

Dear Felix:

Thanks for sending along a copy of your comments to Lawton on the extreme volatility in the financial markets. As usual, your thoughts are right on point. As you know, we have an agreement with the Congress that I think takes an important step toward the necessary actions you outlined.

Let me hasten to add that I'm not among those who sense we are out of the woods. Some may think that the President is stubborn on taxes, but I'm here to tell you that the Congress has been more stubborn on real spending cuts. The President has signed on to the whole package, warts and all, and slippage by the Congress from their end of the bargain would not be acceptable to the President or, I believe, well received elsewhere. I remain hopeful that the agreement will succeed, and I intend to work as hard as I can toward that end.

Please keep me apprised of how things look from where you sit.

Warm regards.

Dear Harold:

Thank you for your kind invitation. I'm delighted that you, and Pulaski County's Lincoln Club, would think of asking me to be keynote speaker and guest of honor on February 12 or 19, 1988.

Regrettably, I must decline. Much as I would like to be with so many friends gathered for this traditional occasion, the heavy demands of my schedule do not allow me to participate in many out-of-Washington events. Nevertheless, I hope you will accept my best wishes for a wonderful celebration.

I think that the result, while far from perfect, shows that the elected branches of government can come together and function and should clearly demonstrate that the President is not inflexible on either taxes or defense. After sitting in those negotiations for 20 days, I've got to tell you that if there is any stubbornness, it is in Congress's unwillingness to cut domestic spending, especially entitlements.

We will keep trying.

Dear Bob:

I apologize for the delay in responding to your letter of November 5. As you know, we have been somewhat busy on both the domestic and foreign fronts.

From the substance of your letter, I expect you are not totally satisfied with the outcome of our budget negotiations. None of us is, but I believe it to be a good first step. The settlement is multi-year and, I would argue, credible; the primary one-time savings are asset sales, which make up only 10% of the package. There are real savings in entitlement programs, including agriculture, and real revenues, all of which translate into permanent reductions. Defense is essentially frozen and domestic discretionary programs are held to a 2% increase for the next two years.

It is not as much as I had hoped or the President had hoped, but it is a good first step. There are only three basic alternatives to reduce the deficit. We could have gone for a larger package, but it would have to include a limitation on COLAs. Whether that is a good idea or not, it is clear there simply aren't enough votes to pass a broad COLA change in either the House or the Senate. The second alternative is the plan that emerged from the negotiations, or something very close to it. The third choice is simply letting the sequester take effect and admitting that the only way we can deal with the deficit is by going on "auto-pilot."

Dear Lucky:

Now that the Washington Summit is over
I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the exceptional work
you did in making it such a success.
I know the President and the First Lady appreciate it, but I wanted you to know that I do too.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President
